There were the blacksmiths who had inflated the cost of shovels by demanding more gold for their services.

"We have been hit on the head with scores from the great evil tree alone too often," the blacksmiths told the king's men.

There were the kite flyers who refused to work.

"Our necks are cramped from always looking up," they told members of the royal court.

"Have I not been a gracious king?" asked his majesty Fudd. "I have given my people more than my father before me and my grandfather and great-grandfathers before him."

"What do people want? I pay them for not working. I give them food and promises of a perpetual supply of gold. What else I have done wrong?"

"Your majesty," said the baron, "there is a parable about a dog with a bone saw his reflection in the water and dropped the bone trying to catch something that did not exist.

"Many of your subjects chasing rainbows."

King Fudhi thought of a moment. He wanted so much to be the greatest king of Fudhi.

"Call my court together," he directed Baron Shedd. "I shall decree even more land and gold for my people. I must be happy no matter the cost. Tell my people that order them to be happy."

"And, baron, on your throne the royal kitchen men serve more ice."

Some poverty department employees will receive more money than the U. S. Commissioner of Education. Many will draw more than their salaries and at least 300 will be paid in excess of $10,000 a year.

It is short our laws sent from the private law courts. That government is best that governs least.

ALL MEN are intellectually competent to form sagable opinion whether it be in the form of a grand design or a simple act of leadership to stimulate the people to action. The only obstacle to the attainment of accomplishment.

The building blocks of a structured society are the ability to motivate a forward movement based on the exaltation of past glories and the commitment to the future of great civilizations of the past to not let political demands, for sociological or economic reasons, destroy the popular demand, mediocrity of achievement and the suffering of the people. The only way to achieve a better future is through the overthrow, sovereignty dissolved and delivered.

When this drift into oblivion or national poverty came about through internal weakness in the military and the political and national sufficient reason for the internal aggression. What makes our people believe that they are not the best of all that have adapted their methods and advanced their knowledge to the modern world. The only way to accommodate to this leadership is to have a social and political system that is a nation must be able to afford to protect the people from the forces of the dynamics of extinction, by their very own power the forces of a congenial society.

Crowd of 300 Teens Dispersed Police To Crack Down On Loitering

Police Monday night had to use public address systems on squad cars to disperse an estimated 300-agers found loitering near Campbell and Vail. The incident had caused police to promise a crackdown on such gatherings by youths.

At Jack Albrecht said a report of a fight in progress at about 9:45 p.m. on Vail. Four squads were sent to the scene, but to no avail.

police is large group in front of scene.

"We can charge them with blocking the sidewalk," he said. "We can't do that with loitering."

THE AMI is not to nagle out teens for punishment, but police say many problems arise from the large crowds that gather each night.

Storeowners complain because their entrances are blocked by the loiterers.

heard teens who sit at doorways, have against cars, smoke motorcycles or stouck in the middle of the sidewalk.

POLICE say the biggest objection is the potential for the teenagers present for fights.

Police reports indicate a large number of incidents, mostly minor, involving fighting in the general area, Albrecht said with such large numbers of youths, it would be easy for a minor incident to develop into something serious.

let things get out of hand again. I'm sure sooner or later someone will get so we as if we are serious and I guarantee we will make arrests if we have to."

ALBRECHT said the point of the downtown area will continue. He said that at least one officer would patrol on foot to make sure that crowds do not form.

"While I was patrolling last night," he said, "several people approached and commented that we should have these kids be chased from the sidewalk. If they have nothing to do, they have no right to disrupt the business of people who have things to do."

Lost Prospect Man, Daughter Found Safe

Special to The Day

Searchers today found a Mount Prospect man and his 5-year-old daughter safe in the woods near the village of Northbrook.

Herbert L. Warren, 42, and his daughter, Louise, 5, of 206 S. George, went for a walk last night before dinner and disappeared.

(The United Press International reported the two were found in a canyon near Allens Park, Colo. The dispatch and they became lost while exploring an abandoned mine near the resort where they were staying.)

"They shouldn't have been gone more than an hour," said Richard Hammett, of 931 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights. The Hammett family and the Warren family were vacationing together at the Fire Cliff Ranch near Allens Park.

Hammett and the father and daughter had been expected back for dinner but did not return.

Mrs. Eleanor Warren and her two daughters Lynn Ellen, 17, and Laurie, 12, waited through the night for word, as 30 searches located the two. Another 150 had planned to camp in the area.

The search ended in a wooded canyon in the rugged Rocky Mountain National Park.

The search chief, Stan Bush of Littleton, Colo., said: "We don't know if anything happened to them. We hope they are safe."

He said they searched the canyon between Warrens and his daughter intended to walk through it. The canyon runs between Allens Park and Lyons, Colo.

RUSH, WHO heads the Arapahoe Rescue Squad—of three teams in the search, explained: "The search has a lot of gullies and heavy woods. One somebody goes lost on their own."

"Mrs. Warren is very distraught," Hammett said. "She hasn't been able to sleep since her husband and daughter went missing."

The pair were wearing light weight summer clothing and had neither blankets nor food and water.

The Warrens and their five children drove to Colorado in separate cars. They arrived at the resort Saturday and planned to stay a week.

"We HAVE been planning this vacation for years," Hammett said. "We were thought something like this would never happen."

Mrs. Warren said the Colorado State Police that she was the first time the family had been to Colorado, but said her husband had hiked on mountain trails before.

"According to my calendar," he said, "we cannot just take a person who is seeking door-to-door. But property owner has the right to enter the residence of the owner of the property. If the person does not go, he is trespassing and liable to arrest."

James said that he would be in favor of such action, but suggested that a time be set around the pool for protection.

Hammett explained that he would have to go to the village property owner to get approval for their general use and the limits and the limits of the house and the house in the house.

After the board of education considered a proposal by the Des Moines Co. for the district to send some 100 students to the bus company, the board has decided to find a way to finance the purchase of the bus and send it to the neighborhood.

Henry Fredericks, 131 S. Walnut, inspect a bus he bought last Monday night. Fredericks said he and volunteers have been looking for a bus to use for the school district. He said, "We are not sure if we have the right to destroy my property. I think it is fine police start looking into the kids they catch doing things."

High School Counselor Gets Harvard Post

When Floyd Hillman "goes Ivy League" he goes first class.

Hillman, of 38 S. Ridge, Arlington Heights, is a college senior at Forest View High School.

He has been named to the national office at Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass. to participate in a new program of research.

His program involves having a high school counselor come to the university for a three-month period to work in the administration and financial aid office.

Hillman will be the first to fill the position and will be selected from counselors throughout the country.

The board of education has granted him a leave of absence for the 1966-67 school year.

Harvard University has agreed to pay Hillman five months of his current $11,238 district salary. Hill will pay one sixth of his salary.

Dr. Gilbert said board of education members Monday night that Mrs. Virginia Karcher, who recently transferred to Forest View High School, will be named to fill the counseling position. Margaret Matsumoto will be reassigned from Forest View to Elk Grove in exchange.

Dr. Gilbert and Board President Dan Armstrong expressed pride that Hillman was selected for the position at Harvard.

Gripe Of The Day

My gripe is to buy a package of cut-up chicken. The chicken was to have been cut up but it was not.

About 15 gallons of water were used to put out the fire, but it was a good deal of smoke but caused no damage, firemen said.

Most Prospect firemen used a small pump unit and a hose line to extinguish the fire near the incinerator at the Charles Brown Co., 1800 W. Central Rd., yesterday.

The fire apparently started because flammable rubbish, mostly cardboard, had been stacked on top of the incinerator. The rubbish was to have been burned in the incinerator.

East up your outdoor meals with a nippy new barbecue grill and a Cheese-Bean Skillet.

Barbecue Spread Makes Flavor Last

Cooking meat is part of summer living, and it's a practice that most homemakers look forward to throughout the chilly season.

But if your family has cooked meat frequently for seven or eight weeks, food prepared outdoors may begin to taste all the same.

If that's how it seems to you, here's an idea for cooking up hamburgers and other meats — a nippy new barbecue spread. From the barbecue grill, crisp collards and cups of cold milk, and you'll have an attractive meal that will spur delectable appetite.

BARBECUE SPREAD FOR HAMBURGERS

- 1/2 cup salt butter (1 stick)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne
- 1/2 teaspoon mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 tablespoon

Do not butter meat. Rub barbecue spread from sides.

Blend all ingredients together and spread on hamburgers or other meats. Broil just before serving top with strips of cheddar cheese. Make 1/2 cup spread enough for 4 to 6 servings. NOTE: For a less spicy spread, reduce chili powder, cayenne and mustard to 1/2 teaspoon each, and omit the hot pepper sauce.

CHEESE-BEAN SKILLET

- 1 medium onion, finely diced
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 (17-ounce) cans pork and beans (5 cups)
- 1/2 cup onion
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons mustard
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 1/2 pound sharp American cheese, sliced

Sauté onion in butter until tender. Stir in beans, mustard, sugar, celery salt and soy.

Village Gets New Health Aide

The Village of Arlington Heights has a new assistant. Richard Dawson, 31, of Wheaton, will assume his duties Aug. 22. He will work with the health services department and public health nurse Mrs. Marie Colburn.

Dawson's duties will be mental health of the village concerned with the services. He will check food handlers, food handling establishments, restaurants, kindergartens, homes, cleaning establishments and other areas where specific health standards have to be maintained.

After five years experience in the field of public health, Dawson says the job offers him a chance to learn and challenging field in which to work.

"THERE is a big need for qualified and interested people in the area of public health. I like people and I feel this is a good way to be in touch with them," he said.

"I feel it is a full-time job taking care of public health. The general public should be made more aware of the field and I hope to help in this area. Public health is not on everybody's mind as much as it should be. There are so many distressed fields that enter into the job."

Dawson will be the day manager. He is currently a sanitation with the Du Page County Health Department in Wheaton. Previously he had nine years of experience in the ground, water-well field.

Public Health Nurse Mrs. Marie Colburn (center) reviews plans for a coming health campaign with Richard Dawson, village sanitation, and Mrs. Jean Durkin, public health services secretary.

Mt. Prospect to Vote On Government Change

Mount Prospect voters will decide Tuesday, Sept. 13 on whether to retain the present village form of government or change to a city charter system with a mayor-alderman system.

Mayor Daniel Conger at the referendum by proposition four Saturday. He said he felt that the vote itself will stimulate a large turnout at the polls. "I am certain that when the people of Mount Prospect are made aware of the issues of the referendum, they will vote and vote this proposition favorably," he said.

The vote has been called as a result of petitions by a group called the Representative Government Action (RGA). The RGA claims that the village has outgrown its present form of government. It also claims that Mayor Conger has interfered with the operations of the village and has caused a moral problem in the police and fire departments.

Dr. Smith To Be Panel Member

Dr. Frank Smith of Arlington Heights will participate in a panel discussing the medical aspects of the problems of laypersons during the 13th annual meeting of the International Assn. of Laypersons. The meeting, sponsored by the American Cancer Society will be held Aug. 7, 12 in the Palmer Hotel in Chicago.

Dr. Smith, psychologist with Sears, Roebuck & Co. is chairman of the Illinois Northwestern Suburban Unit.

Dr. John Broadhead of Arlington Heights, president of the Northwestern Suburban Unit, American Cancer Society, and delegates will represent 23,000 members of 116 affiliated clubs from the United States and eight other nations.

The purpose of the association is to assist local clubs in their efforts to rehabilitate the layperson who, usually because of cancer, has had his career or voice lost and has lost the ability to speak normally.

"Cancer of the larynx," says Dr. Broadhead, "is one of the most curable of all cancers, being about 90 per cent curable if detected in time."

Cost of Living, Viet Nam War Are Issues for Percy

BY JERILYN WATSON

The belated home of Charles H. Percy is Randolph was the setting Friday for an open house of the Women's Republican Club of the 13th Congressional District.

Percy greeted 200 guests in his shirtdress after he had just returned from his post at a Kane County speaking engagement immediately before the open house.

He is an informal address on the front lawn, the Republican candidate for the U. S. House, around two issues beyond women — the current cost of living and the war in Viet Nam.

"When President Eisenhower was in the White House," Percy said, "you remember eight years of peace and no war."

At that time, he continued, American servicemen were not allowed to vote.

"Today," said Percy, who opposes Sen. Paul H. Douglas, "we have 500,000 boys fighting in Viet Nam." He added that some 500,000 boys are expected to be assigned there before the end of 1966.

PERCY PAID tribute to Mrs. Jean Hunter of Arlington Heights, club president, as her death recently, calling her a "great woman."

Among candidates introduced were Joseph Woods, running for Cook County sheriff; Earl Eisenhower, candidate for county clerk; Homer Foley, running for county assessor, and Al Eisenman, who seeks a Sanitary District trusteeship.

Also present was Mrs. Virginia MacDonald of Arlington Heights, chairman of the women's division of the Cook County Republican Central Committee.

Mrs. MacDonald has plenty of company from northwest area women. Among others attending were Mrs. Eugene Schickman, wife of the Wheeling-Tomball Republican committeewoman and state representative, Mrs. Jerry Hanson, Mrs. Ron Phillips, Mrs. F. J. Stewart and Mrs. Emil Ernst.

THE BEAUTY of the Percy home was a prime topic of many of the guests, who had lunch and cocktails on the front lawn, sat around the family's indoor swimming pool, or walked in the hilly back yard that slopes over Kenilworth Beach.

Another topic was Percy's appearance, which seems to become steadily younger. The candidate once was a student of Sen. Douglas at the University of Chicago.

"I'm enjoying every moment of the campaign," Percy said.

A woman in a pastel linen dress, leaning against a tree as he spoke, nodded.

"That's for sure," she said, looking at the tanned blond man who looked as though he might stop speaking at any moment in the push-ups.

Plan to Buy Sewers Pushed

Village officials will meet with Village Board, representatives of the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District, on Thursday, Aug. 11 to discuss the possibility of district's relinquishing control of the Mount Prospect sewer system.

Boone will meet with Mayor Daniel Conway and attorney Robert Moore to outline the sanitary district's position on the present sewer situation.

The sanitary district acquired possession of the sewers in 1958 as an experiment. This far, it has acquired no other municipal system.

In a letter to Boone last week, Mayor Conway said that the village is concerned about the maintenance program in keeping up the Mount Prospect system.

A Sanitary district official admitted at last Tuesday's village board meeting that only 150 of the more than 1,500 catch basins in the village are cleaned each year.

"At that rate," Conway said, "it would take in excess of 10 years to clean the sewer system."

Way of financing the acquisition of the system, which has nearly $1 million in outstanding, were explored by the public works committee last week.

Gas Station Hits Snag on Permit

Location of a building permit to East Oil Co. for a gas station at Algonquin Rd. and Dempster in Mount Prospect has been determined to be an administrative matter rather than legislative decision.

This was the opinion of the judicial committee of the village board after a hearing on the matter Friday night.

Transfer of the property was made in January, 1966, at which time the zoning for a filling station at the location was proper.

The company, however, did not apply for a building permit until June. In the interim, the ordinance was revised making it illegal for a service station to be constructed within 300 feet of the location of an existing service station or gasoline storage tank.

Under this ordinance, the Algonquin - Dempster property would not qualify.

Company representatives said they had to come into developments with the Public Service Co., owner of a strip of land behind the proposed service station, for permission to erect the building for use as the station.

This was the reason the application was not filed earlier.

It will be up to the village board to determine if the delay was warranted and if it was justified, he will be able to issue the building permit.

School Bus Issue Splits Group Suing Dist, 25

BY JIM BOHR

An apparent split has developed among members of the Prospect Heights Property Owners' Assn. over a law suit pending as to whether to sue the district for a recent boundary change by School District 25.

The suit, filed Aug. 4 in Circuit Court, Champaign Division, charges that the Board of Education was "arbitrary, capricious and discriminatory" in recommending the boundary. The re-map would mean Prospect Meadows children, now attending Kensington School, to attend North School in the fall.

The split opinion appeared at a special meeting of the association last night. Several members voiced strong opposition to the inclusion in the suit of the charge that the board recommended the boundary change in order to be able to provide free bus transportation to students attending St. James Catholic School.

Mrs. Patricia Phillips, 400 Rob-O-Link, said she believed that the action of the suit had not been sufficiently brought out to the public.

"I THINK that many of us would not have signed the petition for this action if we had known that the board of parochial school children would be one of the main issues," she said. "I know that many would not have voted to allocate association funds to be used for the suit."

(The suit is being temporarily delayed by the association, although the association has assumed its sponsorship in the venture. The suit is filed in the name of Richard R. Means, 429 Rob-O-Link, and is a pro effort by the protesting members.)

Mrs. Phillips said that when the question first arose, it was a matter of a boundary change and that no mention was made of the St. James issue.

Mrs. Mary Jean Reed, 4113 Bunting, chairman of the St. James Parents' Assn., said that the board's action in the question of busing students, said that the parochial busing could not have been a factor in the board's decision.

"THE BOARD passed the re-map decision on May 9," she said. "They were not approached by any of us regarding busing until the board's decision was made."

Mrs. Richard Means, chairman of the committee protesting the board's decision, said the board's decision was more up to date of proposition.

"I think the news media have concentrated on this issue. There are others in the suit," she said. "The suit is against School Dist. 25, not against St. James," said representatives of St. James or any Catholic parents.

Mrs. Means said she felt that this dispute was harmful to the overall effort.

"We now have Roman Catholics within the organization," she said. "When the board said this, they will sit back and shrivel and leave us to take the case apart by ourselves."

MRS. REED showed little sympathy for the statement. "You represent yourself very eloquently and I am moved by your statement," she said. "Mrs. Means, 'But what did I intend it was merely a question of busing. It was not about the St. James issue.'"

Now that we are bringing the busing of the Catholic students into the picture, I feel that I am being discriminated against."

Mrs. Phillips agreed with the reply.

"I believe that since the request for and the subsequent granting of free busing to the Catholic school students was made," she said, "it would not be included in the suit."

Mrs. Means said she believed that, since a busing had been granted, it would not be in order to question its action in busing of the suit.

"We have obtained a legal mind to fight the case," she said. "I think I would have said that to him. He knows what is proper to do."

ASSOCIATION president, James Grant, 404 Oriole, said he considered the action situation unfortunate.

"It is rather tragic that this group has been stressed," he said. "None of it is the only one which has caused a fear in the community."

Thomas Hertz, 400 Oriole, said that some sort of unity should be made out of a show of hands indicating how many members present are in favor of the neighborhood school concept," he said.

The association members were about unanimous.

Andrew Lasky, attorney for the protestors, filed the motion for injunction Monday in Circuit Court. Dist. 25 attorney Alvin Frost filed a motion to dismiss the suit at the same time.

THE MOTION to dismiss claims that the school board is in the discriminatory authority under the State School Code to set school boundaries and to assign students to schools.

It claims further that it is a power not subject to court review unless facts contained in the complaint prove abuse of the power. It contends that the facts do not show any such abuse.

The hearing on both the motion for the injunction and the motion to dismiss will be heard in Circuit Court, Champaign Division, on Thursday, Aug. 16.

Two Mouths Battle With Ax in Auto

Mother Finds Son Left in Driveway

Two youths, one from Arlington Heights, were found in a fight condition this morning after the boy battled with an ax in the rear end of an auto north of the village.

David Scheraga, 19, was found by his mother Loretta Boyd on over much of his body in the rear seat of his car in the family driveway at 805 N. Vail.

She had become worried after he failed to come into the house for nearly an hour after she heard his car pull into the driveway.

According to Lt. Irvin McDougall of the Arlington Heights police, Scheraga was found with a badly cut leg.

Scheraga told McDougall that he and a third youth in the car had been involved in a forest preserve earlier.

THE THIRD youth, David Weber, 19, of 8999 Kennedy, Deer Prairie, was released by McDougall at home. Weber said he and his friend had a "little fight," but was unharmed as the cause of the row.

Scheraga and McDougall told conflicting stories about the fight.

According to Scheraga, McDougall grabbed the ax from under the seat and hit him with it. They then fought over it, he said.

Rodriguez told police it was Scheraga who grabbed the ax and hit him with it on the left leg. He then grabbed

Group to Survey Sidewalk Needs

A special meeting of the Board of Local Improvement will be held Sept. 10 at 9 a.m. to survey the sidewalk needs of the village for future sidewalks.

Board members set the meeting date last night and decided to set the survey to be held by the village manager L. A. Gillen, the village engineer and members of the village board will be invited to attend the meeting.

The group will assemble at the village hall.

United Fund Seeks 1,000 Workers

John Gillen, president of the United Fund, has issued an appeal for 1,000 workers for the fund on "United" - Oct. 25.

"We need 1,000 workers so we can reach every home in the village," he said. "Each house will be contacted by mail."

"Each worker will be given a $1.00 card with 12 names and addresses on it," he said. "These are the only homes they will be asked to call on."

The drive - a one shot, one day drive - will run from 7 to 10 p.m. Gillen urged every adult who has a car to join the drive. He said that the drive will be held on Sept. 25-26, 1967. There will be some time to answer the phone every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., he said.

The fund goal has not yet been set. There will be a meeting at Church Center for the Extended Sept. 8, when the work will be decided on.

Loitering Not Serious, Says Chief

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Caldwell said yesterday that loitering is not a serious problem of the village. He said that the village is not a problem of loitering, but that it is a problem of some numbers of his force appear to be loitering.

Caldwell refused specifically to say whether loitering is a problem of the village, but he said that the village is not a problem of loitering, but that it is a problem of some numbers of his force appear to be loitering.

"I don't think that this was due to a misunderstanding between Lt. Jack Hargis, police commander, and the press," he said. "The press is not to the issue of the disturbance found only 40 or 50 teenagers at the corner."

The names of nine youths all from Palestine, were taken by police.

Caldwell concluded that the village is not a problem of loitering, but that it is a problem of some numbers of his force appear to be loitering.

Tuesday Aldrich said he will increase his patrol of the downtown area at night to discourage such gatherings. He personally predicted the town is not a problem.

Since then gatherings have been few in the vicinity. Wednesday no large gatherings were reported, probably due to the fact that the village is not a problem of loitering, but that it is a problem of some numbers of his force appear to be loitering.

A hand put on an old friend - Bill Neumann regards with affection the chair that started him as a barber in the village. He recently retired after 44 years of operating Neumann's Barber Shop.

An Old Barber Chair Bit of Village History

"I learned my trade on this chair," said Bill Neumann as he pointed to the old-fashioned chair commanding attention in the front window of Neumann's Barber Shop.

The chair is more than 100 years old and Neumann says there are only two others like it in the United States. He first took the chair for a "white" when he was establishing his own barber shop and found it to be the best of a kind. He bought it for $25 and had it reconditioned in red, red velvet upholstery.

He has donated it to the Arlington Heights Historical Society but says it will remain in the window, or least for a while.

"It's a legend and it belongs to this town," he said.

A Town by Any Other Name ...

Dunton? Where Was That?

BY TOM STANTON

It hasn't always been called Arlington Heights. In fact this name has had nearly as many names as its present name has letters.

First it was West Waukegan, then Elk Grove, almost Bradley, then Dunton, almost Arlington and finally the present Arlington Heights.

There are some people in town who would like to see the name changed again. Not to something else, but rather back to the more historically meaningful name Dunton.

Yes, Dunton, the William H. Dunton who created what is now called Arlington Heights.

"I sure wish it was still called Dunton instead of Arlington Heights," Albert Vols, 95, of 6 E. Hawthorne, said wistfully. "I was born in Dunton."

"It is hard to hear for old man Dunton," continued Vols, the oldest continuous resident of the village, "there wouldn't be any Arlington Heights."

MRS. DARY DUNN, curator of the village historical society, agreed. And she's like to see it called Dunton again.

According to Mrs. Darryl Williams, then 17, his brother James, 14, and their father Ann homesteaded 480 acres here in 1834. That was only three years after the first the five years required to get title as to make the homestead leave, the family moved south to the quarter in LaMoine. There Ann found work at his grade of stone built. In 1850 William returned, married and built his home here it was then West Waukegan.

Mrs. Dunton said that Dunton soon got word that a railroad would be built this way - but the plan then was to build it along Road Rd. north from Elk Grove.

DUNTON joined the Wisconsin Land Co., a syndicate that was buying up land along the railroad right of way. Using the land company as a lever, Dunton persuaded the railroad to follow its present route.

The old story went that he gave the railroad the land for the right of way and station here. Not so, Mrs. Dunton insists. Dunton got paid for the land. The price was $350. The historical society has an affidavit to prove it.

When the railroad built the station near its present site, it called the town Elk Grove. That was in 1854.

That same year Dunton quickly capitalized on the coming of the road. He surveyed and subdivided part of his farm and the first real town here was born.

Dunton wanted to call it Bradley, after Peter Bradley, a close friend, Mrs. Dunton said.

BUT AFTER driving up the plot - with the name Bradley written on it - Dunton discovered the state already had it Bradley.

Whether they too had scores to settle with Dunton is not clear. But they gave their reasons - they played in and set about building the "pretzel" name.

Albert Vols, 95, looks through some early records of the village of his father at home. He would like to see the village name changed back to Dunton, the name of the town in which he was born.

With feasibility he scratched out that name and penciled in his own. Then the new town became Dunton.

It was Dunton when young boys went off to fight for union and Mr. Lincoln. It was Dunton when they returned.

That year Dunton got the letter of another developer in a land deal and the developer wanted a little vengeance.

He went to others with land to sell in the town and, according to Mrs. Dunton, said: "Don't you think our land would sell better if the town had a prettier name?"

Volz, who was twice mayor of the village in 1903 and 1915, argued the logic of his position.

The name "Arlington Heights" is just one name," he said. "There are very few names in America with as many letters as Dunton."

"I say it off," he laughed. "They changed the name of the town of this period of Sunny Ridge."

"We are very pleased with the way our architect Ben Dunham has been able to style the outside of the building to blend with the neighborhood and still give it a very workable arrangement on the inside," Hanson said.

THE CLINIC is professionally staffed and operated by a medical director. It is supervised and partly financed by the state and also receives funds from the township and from local contributions.

Diagnostic and counseling services are available at the clinic for individuals who feel they need help. Many patients are referred by their doctors, ministers or lawyers.

Hanson said the largest number of referrals are children from the school district in the seven-acre area which the clinic serves-Arlington Heights, Elk Grove, Hoffman-Schwanberg, Mount Prospect, Palmdale, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling-Highland Grove.

The Northwest-Cooperative Mental Health Clinic has been operating since March, 1943, at 1711 W. Campbell in Arlington Heights. It is the only mental health clinic of its kind in the area and operates on the basis that no one is turned away because of inability to pay for psychiatric help.

Clinic Plans to Be Shown

Working drawings and plans for the new building of the Northwest-Cooperative Mental Health Clinic will be presented to the public for the first time Thursday, Aug.

Officers and directors of the association will present the plan to the Sunny Ridge Homesteaders Assn., at 8 p.m. meeting in the Forest View Elementary School.

Skooll Graduation

By Catherine O'Donnell

Progressive might be the best word to describe the Stars and Stripes Play School, which will hold a ceremony Monday night in the back yard of the Edward J. Jackson family on S. Belmont.

It will signify the end of another summer season. The Stars and Stripes Play School is owned and operated by two pretty young girls who will attend Arlington Heights School during this year. They are Ruth Glick, 11, and Linda Wern, 14. Ruth has been living with the Jackson family since her mother died a year ago and she is considered very much a part of the family.

Linda and her parents, the Paul Werns, recently have moved to Arlington Heights from Bellefontaine, Ohio. The school is in its second year. It was started by Linda last year by Edgely Jackson, 16, who turned it over to the younger generation this year. They, in turn, hold classes from 10 a.m. until noon, three days a week for an average of 12 pupils, ranging in age from 3 to 8.

The artistic curriculum is given, is composed by teachers, childhood assistants and parents. The program is a free play for the youngsters and beyond the morning and afternoon sessions. Linda is enjoying this school. Ruth and Linda are not only the teachers but the students as well. The two are in a long yellow van with a sign that reads SCHOOL BUS. The two go off each morning to pick up the student body who march to school inside the school bus.

There's not much chance of children dropping out the back door because it is closely guarded by the Jackson's assistant teacher, Elizabeth Ridgeway, Blackstone.

Blackstone, named by its attorney master, has a strong enough look with his furrowed forehead and his feet standing upright on his spine. Actually he is the only one who had to be sent to the principal's office during the year.

Second runner up was Nancy Frey, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Frey of 4206 Oak Dr., who entered from the Central Road playground.

Judges included Mrs. Jack Rohr, Mrs. Gene Decker and Mrs. Ken Ranks.

Mrs. Cawthra teaches at Dutton School and is engaged in intensive training in course and skills in geography.

According to Dr. Loh, it will take about 17 months to get the college off the ground and into early development stage.

Board members believe that about $13 million is needed for the first phase campus development.

An emergency appropriation by the state of some $60 million could save the bond, however, is an expected early next year.

IF THE State pro-rates the same among the six districts, Harper will be in a good position to build the first phase campus development.

Some Day

A hardware merchant did not like an editorial in The Day that suggested businessmen merchandise more homes. The editorial was based on a woman's experience trying to find a store open on Wednesday afternoon.

"I can tell you one thing," the businessman said. "We don't go home and take a nap. We go right on working for our customers, running errands. It is the only time we can get out of our buying day."

"You should stick up for your hardware business. I always thought newspapermen are supposed to get both sides of a story before they print anything." The objection looks down to the old debate between the big agencies and the little openers. The big firms have many employees and can stagger working hours to remain open longer.

The independent merchant operates on a smaller budget. To have one twice daily requires thousands of dollars a year more business. This kind of money is not always available during one extra afternoon or one evening.

"We have trouble finding the right kind of help," the businessman said. "We had one woman who was with us three years and was real good. She was worth about ten times what she was paid. But she was not able to pay, but she stayed with us because she had no one to work and be near home. You don't find anybody like that very easily."

Independent businessmen say they can provide that personalized service and those little extra that seem to get lost somewhere when the store gets bigger or part of a chain.

"We know what we did last Wednesday," the man said. "We got our car and drove to get a special order for one of our customers. Sure he appreciated it, but it was in only time we could have done it. I would like to have a Saturday off, but not."

Even the shopping centers and insurance firms do the same on Sunday, and shopping centers often hummed.

Many banks have varied their work schedules to provide window service for additional hours. And some doctors have "weekend emergency referral" service on their hours of operation.

The independent merchant has no special reason. There is just so much of his time and energy available and sooner or later he runs out of both.

Vantage Point

Those of us who have watched the transition of the Illinois judicial system from the greater benevolence of the peace courts to today's ultra-modern series of courts never cease to be amazed at the final result.

There have been dreams of the system, but those dreams are mild when compared to the actualities of the courts of just three years ago.

Most attorneys agree that it is a pleasure to work before professional judges and magistrates, equally in the law as in the courts.

One of the biggest changes in the court system is that judges must be made, and must be made immediately. This is in the case of family or juvenile court.

Currently, juvenile court is located in Chicago. Cases before juvenile judges run the gamut from bad behavior to shoplifting. Most of the problems in juvenile court involve intercity children who are juveniles only by the age of their age. They are committing adult crimes at 14, 15, and 16 years of age.

Into this atmosphere, suburban law enforcement officials must take their cases — and hope for the best. In the past, the best has been none too good.

The juvenile court is too involved with the recent crimes of the city to take much time to hash out the relatively minor suburban problems.

There is an answer to this problem — one that is well within the frame of the current system and one that has, in fact, been utilized by other branches of the court.

does not have to give allegiance to any political party.

IN THEORY, this is excellent. In fact, however, it does not quite work that way. As long as people have the judiciary, there will be a certain amount of political influence. The politician can expect to receive some votes, but not the kind of votes that are needed.

There is one area in Cook County where a radical change in the court system must be made, and must be made immediately. This is in the case of family or juvenile court.

Currently, juvenile court is located in Chicago. Cases before juvenile judges run the gamut from bad behavior to shoplifting. Most of the problems in juvenile court involve intercity children who are juveniles only by the age of their age. They are committing adult crimes at 14, 15, and 16 years of age.

There is an answer to this problem — one that is well within the frame of the current system and one that has, in fact, been utilized by other branches of the court.

The answer is simply de-centralization. Bring family court to the suburbs, just as traffic court and misdemeanor and other court new operate in local areas.

There are several court rooms in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect. We are certain that the independent and other court new operate in local areas.

This is one area where the court court system, at least in Cook County, has not fulfilled its responsibility. Why? The answer is simple or not, there is a tremendous difference in the problems confronted in suburban and town found downtown.

IT IS NOT fair to the suburban juvenile of today, whose crime might be running away from home or simple truancy, to mix him with the violent type of offenses that are common in the Chicago core.

We have said many times that — thanks to judges like Bernie Feiks of Northbrook — the state has a really improved juvenile court system.

Just one additional step — de-centralization of the juvenile court — will update that model considerably.

"FAUTE D'ARGENT, c'EST DOULEUR SANS PAREILLE"

Over 400 years ago, Rabelais noted grimly that "lack of money is trouble without equal." There's little excuse nowadays for most people to be lacking money. If they do not save in this high-income period, what will they do in leaner days that may lie ahead?

A half-year's income in ready cash is a worthy goal to shoot at. In a Federal Savings account, it will be easily available and yet will earn our substantial dividends while it is with us.

Now is the time to start saving toward a six-month nest egg. All you have to do is decide how soon you wish to reach this goal ... and then take the necessary amount from each pay check and put it into savings.

You'll be pleased at how troubles disappear when the money you need is near at hand.

Silent Policemen on Duty

Editor: I read Mr. J. D. Morgan's column of Aug. 9, 1966, of The Day and couldn't help but wonder whether he happened to be a silent policeman.

Silent policemen are not paid, but they do cost money to maintain. In the overwhelming majority they would be a right depression, across the traffic lines, at intersections.
